

Oliver Kacelnik Curriculum vitae (Abridged)

Qualifications:

Diploma in Interventional Epidemiology (EPIET/FETP -ECDC)

Doctor of medicine (BM Bch) (Oxford University)

D.Phil (equivalent of PhD): (Oxford University)

Physiology B.A. (Oxford University)

CURRENT AND PREVIOUS POSITIONS

2022- Special Advisor in Public Health, Norwegian Ministry of Health and Care Services

2018- Senior medical officer: Section for Antibiotic Resistance and Infection Prevention, Norwegian Institute of Public health, Norway

2012- Doctor, Dept of Infectious disease epidemiology, Norwegian Institute of Public health, Norway

2010- Fellow in Norwegian Field Epidemiology Training Programme, Norwegian Institute of Public health, Norway

2006- Doctor at the John Radcliffe Hospital, United Kingdom

2002- Post-Doc, Dept. of Physiology, University of Oxford, United Kingdom

Main Interests

Infectious disease prevention and epidemiology

Antimicrobial resistance

Health care associated infections and Infection prevention and control interventions in healthcare

Previous association with ECDC

Invited External expert on European Centre for Disease Control country visits on AMR to five countries

OCP for Healthcare associated infections

Several Expert groups

Facilitator on ECDC EPIET training modules